We wish to invite all practitioners and students who wish to learn more about successful natural fertility treatments and businesses.

The aim of this seminar is to bridge the gap between various fertility professionals and show how natural fertility treatments can integrate with conventional medical fertility treatments, to provide advice for natural fertility experts, and with the wider aim of building respect among various professions and the public for the natural health industry - and to remember the traditional aspect to our field.

Ann has compiled a showbag full of information about how your clients can benefit from natural fertility treatments.
